

AS SEEN IN MARCH 2012

BUYING GUIDE

92 Martin Ray 2009 Reserve Cabernet Sauvignon (Stags Leap District). Who wouldn't love this Cabernet? It defines the famous description of wines from this district as an iron fist in a velvet glove. Shows a firmly tannic structure, with good acidity and a firm minerality. That's the iron. The velvet is the ripe, rich black currant and cherry fruit. Glamorous and delicious, it gives its best over the next six years. —S.H.

abv: 14.6%

Price: $45

2009 Martin Ray Reserve Stags Leap District Cabernet Sauvignon

SILVER MEDAL

2010 San Francisco Chronicle Wine Competition

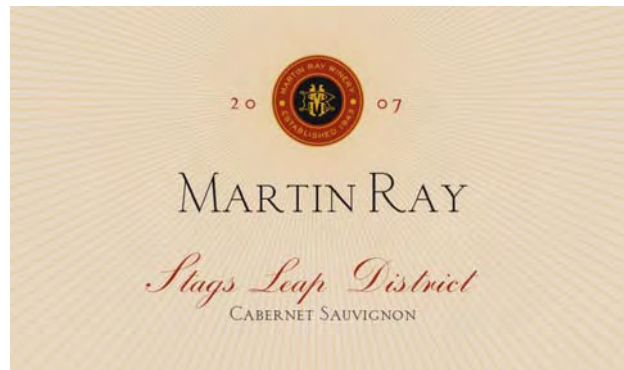

2009 Martin Ray Reserve Stags Leap District Cabernet Sauvignon

Female judges: “Sweet and cranberry juice on the nose with a touch of green herbs. The red fruit entry is complemented by tarragon and oregano accents. Then mouthwatering acids kick in.”

Male judges: “Baked plum, blueberry pie, cranberry juice, and celery root aromas and flavors. Serious acidity and fruit in the mouth.”

– Affairs of the Vine, 2011 Cabernet Shootout

YEAR'S BEST CABERNET SAUVIGNON

91 POINTS! MARTIN RAY CABERNET SAUVIGNON
STAGS LEAP DISTRICT RESERVE 2007

“This has intriguing complexity tied to the Stags Leap District soil, a dark chocolate layer cake of tannin laced with plump cherry fruit. The soil character gives some pungency to the wine, balancing the richness of the fruit and tannin. The texture is smooth, making this accessible now, though it’s also suited to several years of age.”-P.C.

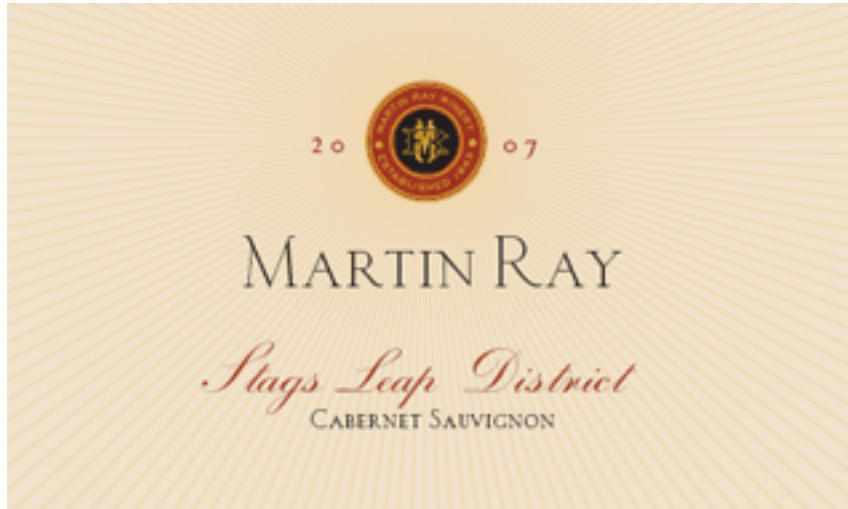

2007 Martin Ray Stags Leap District Cabernet Sauvignon

89 POINTS

“Pretty sharp in tannins and acids, even for a Stags Leap Cab. Although it has plenty of blackberry, cherry, currant and oak flavors, it’s a hard wine. The palate finds so much to like, it wants to be softer, but it’s not, so the gamble is on aging. Try after 2013.”
– S.H. Wine Enthusiast, September 2010 issue

2007 Martin Ray Stags Leap District Cabernet Sauvignon

SILVER MEDAL

2010 San Francisco International Wine Competition

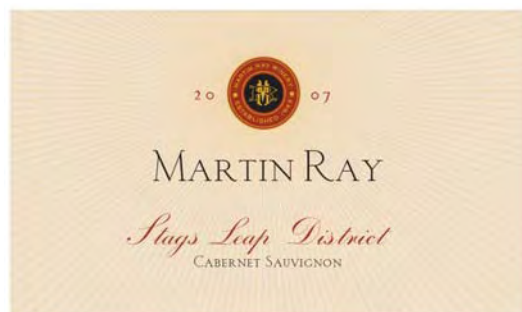

San Francisco Chronicle

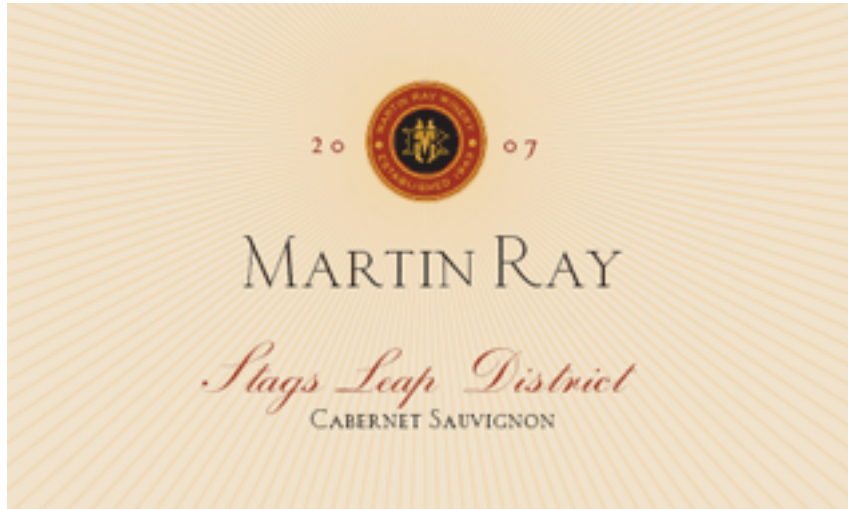

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA'S LARGEST NEWSPAPER

SUNDAY, MAY, 23, 2010

The Chronicle Recommends: Napa Valley Cabernet

“Generous roasted cherry and cassis fruit get more interesting with a savory profile of burnt leaves, graphite and coffee. It’s on the brooding side, with a pretty mineral lift and refinement to the tannins.— Jon Bonné

2007 Martin Ray Stags Leap District Cabernet Sauvignon

SILVER MEDAL

Orange County 2010 Wine Competition

2006 Martin Ray Stags Leap District Cabernet Sauvignon

92 POINTS

“It’s been such a pleasure to watch Martin Ray expand into their appellation series of Cabernet Sauvignons, which they do with aplomb. This Cab shows the elegant power of Stags Leap, with classic black currant and cedar flavors that are instantly appealing.”

- S.H., Wine Enthusiast, October 2009 Issue