CONCRETE
CHARDONNAY
RUSSIAN RIVER VALLEY

The Russian River Valley possesses the rare combination of excellent soil and ideal cool climate for chardonnay. With close proximity to the Pacific Ocean, the maritime influence of fog, coupled with diurnal shift variances of up to 40 °F degrees, allows for slow ripening. This long growing season encourages the fruit to ripen fully, develop complexity, and remain lean with vibrant acidity.

Concrete aging heightens everything we love about chardonnay - the result is high-toned and mineral-driven, yet lush on the mid palate, and embodies its distinct terroir.

"Opulent, yet in check. Such a beautiful and pure single-vineyard Sonoma white."

-JAMES SUCKLING

"It's another beautifully balanced, clean, classic Chardonnay from this estate that has loads to love."
